SB Office Race Highlights Week

By Myrna Lau

One of the largest elections in the history of Wartburg is now under way. Campaigning for student body offices officially started this morning.

Six juniors will be vying for the student body executive positions. They are Nelson Meyer and Paul Wilken for president, Ron Burrichter for vice president, Lois Piotter and Joanne Gammelin for secretary and Karl Fink for treasurer.

TUESDAY'S CONVOCATION will feature a student body meeting at which time the platforms and speeches of the presidential candidates will be heard. The other candidates will be introduced.

If there are more than two candidates to any office, a primary ballot will be voted upon next Wednesday. If a primary election is not needed, the ballot will be submitted for approval. Voting will be in the north end of the Union lounge from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Final elections will be held on Friday. Voting will take place in the north end of the Union lounge from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Presidential candidate Nelson Meyer is from Unadilla, Neb. A psychology major, he is presently serving as junior class president.

He is a member of Alpha Chi and the junior member-at-large for Chi Rho. He is on the Senate Academic Life and Student-Faculty Religious Activities Committees.

MEYER IS A PAST CHAIRMAN of the Senate Public Relations Committee. Besides this, he has served on the dorm council as treasurer of Clinton Hall. As a freshman, he was class treasurer and he was a sophomore class senator.

In high school Nelson was senior class president.

Paul Wilken, hailing from Danfortb, Ill., is a social studies major.

He is a member of Alpha Chi and Chi Rho and was president of the Choir last year.

WILKEN HAS ALSO SERVED as chairman of the Senate Publicity, Student Welfare, Academic Life and Public Relations Committees. As a freshman and sophomore he was class president.

He was also finance chairman of the Student Congregation and campus co-ordinator for the TALC conference held on this campus last year.

Paul's leadership activities have extended from his high school days when he was vice president of the Student Council, freshman class president and co-editor of the school newspaper.

Due to recent amendments to the constitution, the offices of vice president and treasurer will also be voted on in this election.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, Ron Burrichter, who is studying music and majoring in voice, is from Monticello.

At present, he is a member of Band and the Men's Co-ordinating Board. He is president of the Choir and is also president of North Hall.

Ron was co-chairman of Kastle Kapers for Homecoming this year and vice president of Choir last year.

He also held executive offices in music organizations when in high school.

KARL FINK, THE CANDIDATE for the office of treasurer, is from Delmont, S. D. Karl, a foreign language major, is a member of Hans Sachs and Student Education Association. He also participates in varsity baseball.

The secretarial candidates are both from Wisconsin. Lois Piotter is from Fond du Lac and Joanne Gammelin is from Appleton.

Lois, a social work major, is at present secretary of the Student Congregation, a senator from the junior class, editor of the Senate News Letter and a member of Passavant Club.

She has served two years on the Senate Public Relations Committee and was news editor of the Trumpet, secretary of Vollmer Hall, secretary of the Student Body project and on the dorm council last year.

WHILE STILL AT HOME, Lois was a class officer in high school and an officer of the City Youth Council in Fond du Lac.

Joanne, an elementary education major, is also active in campus activities. A member of Pi Sigma and SEA, she is also on the Student Congregation Finance Committee, Senate Student Welfare Committee and the Student Union Council.

She has been a church deacon and the historian for Pi Sigma. Last year Joanne was alternate delegate to the Iowa Student SEA delegate council and this year she is the official delegate.

Friday night at 7:30, the candidates will be called into the Senate office and the winners will be announced by present SBP Dick Buchsteiner.

Limeliters to Appear Thurs.

By Evan Bartelt

The Limeliters, a zany, laugh-producing trio of entertainers, will appear here Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Organized in May, 1959, the Limeliters began their career with an act in Aspen, Colo., in June and July. In August, just three months after they met, they started a six month night club engagement at the "hungry i."

In September, 1960, they played San Francisco and Los Angeles with the Johnny Mathis Show. This was followed by a national tour with Mort Sahl, which was actually the turning point of their career and established the Limeliters.

Since the Sahl tour they have played over two hundred fifty concerts of their own in every major city and on most of the major college campuses in the United States.

They have also been seen on such TV shows as Ed Sullivan, Dinah Shore, Jack Paar, The Lively Ones, Steve Allen and PM East.

One of the big reasons for the ever-increasing popularity of the Limeliters is the fact that more and more people are discovering that this group is composed of three distinct and unique personalities who are all stars in their own right.

THE LIMELITERS

It is Lou Gottlieb's personality which dominates the Limeliters, for it is he who provides the out-of-wack commentary that gives the group its character and distinction.

Alex Hassilev is an unusually gifted musician switching from the guitar to the five-string banjo with the relaxed ease of a master.

Glenn Yarbrough "sings like an angel—and looks like a wrestler," is the most oft-heard comment. His robust appearance is far from misleading, since the scholarly tenor once paid his way through college serving as a night bouncer in a New York hotel.

According to Al Exner, concert chairman, ticket sales are going well and "It looks like it's going to be a really successful concert. Perhaps it was lucky we didn't get Peter, Paul and Mary after all.'

Band Plans Tour

Wartburg College Concert Band will leave Waverly March 22 for its annual spring tour.

This year the band will tour Illinois, with concerts in Palatine, Mendota, Flanagan, Hartsburg and Sibley, concluding with their home concert in Waverly on March 31.

Robert E. Lee, the Band's conductor, will be making his fifth tour with the band this year.

SEVERAL SPECIAL numbers will be featured on the tour. A flute trio, composed of Muriel Stuepfert, senior, LaMoille, Ill.; Ruth Darnauer, sophomore, Goodland, Kan.; and Vivian Johnson, senior, Flanagan, Ill., will perform.

Seniors Linda Blobaum, Humboldt, Neb., and Marilyn Schlake, Garnavillo, will be featured in a saxophone duet. Miss Schlake will also appear as a soloist. During one number Miss Blobaum will solo with four different instruments.

The hour and a half program will present the premier performance of "Bourree for Band," a number written by Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, Music Department. Other numbers will include "Celebration Overture" by contemporary composer Paul Crestin, "La Fiesta Mexicova" and excerpts from Verdi's "Requiem."

MARCHES RANGE from "March of the Steelmen" to Souso's "Black Horse Troop." The second movement of Howard Hansen's "Nordic Symphony" will also be presented.

Band will also be making a recording in Chicago. This will be available for sale sometime this spring, according to Lee.

Film, Meet Head Convo

Convocations next week will feature a student body meeting and a movie produced by the United Nations Office of Public Information.

Paul Wilken and Nelson Meyer, candidates for Student Body President, and Dave Hutson and Jim Steinbrecher, their campaign managers, will be the featured speakers at Tuesday's Convo.

Candidates for the other student body offices, Lois Piotter and Joanne Gammelin for secretary, Karl Fink for treasurer and Ron Burrichter for vice president will also be presented.

The movie for Thursday is entitled "Power Among Men" and deals with the ideas and purposes behind the U.N. It is a "film which is about two faces which co-exist in humankind: Power to build and power to destroy." The movie was filmed in Monte Cassino.

New Deadline

The Executive Committee of the student body announced late yesterday afternoon that all office nominations have been reopened and will close Monday at 2 p.m., according to Student Body Pres. Dick Buchsteiner.

This reopening is due to the fact that there is only one candidate for the office of vice president and treasurer. However, campaigning still officially began this morning.

Think . . . Then Vote

"Hey, Joe, who you going to vote for for Student Body President?"

"Why, there's only one choice after what I heard about the other candidate. From what I know of my man there's just no comparison."

"Yeh, that sounds like a good enough choice. Oh, by the way, how does he feel about some of the changes that need to take place around this college?"

"Oh, I don't know. That really doesn't matter though — he's got my vote because from what I've heard most of the guys say, he's our man."

Perhaps this isn't the typical conversation of all of the student body this time of the year, but it does seem to be typical in some circles of contact.

With student body elections less than a week off, and before campaigning even officially began, many students were making up their minds on whom to vote for on the basis of rumor. And rumor can be a vicious thing.

This is, of course, the situation one runs into when there are so few candidates running for offices. With only two people running for the top office in student government, it isn't any wonder that the battle won't become heated.

It seems unfair that even before the candidates' platforms are presented so many students have their vote decided. On what basis are these decisions made? Is it on rumor, personality preferences, personal gripes, whom your buddy is voting for, or is it on the basis of who can best lead the student government and do the most for it?

The success or failure of a student body lies largely in the hands of its leaders. These people must be guides for the masses.

Nobody can decide but you who would best fulfill the responsibility entrusted to him. It is important to consider all things when casting a vote, since the responsibility involves a great deal to fulfill.

When election day dawns next Friday, try to consider all things before voting for your candidate and, what is most important, vote for the candidate you yourself consider to be superior and will carry out the ideals you have set up in your own mind.

Go Team, Fight?

Sportsmanship had its test during the recent basketball game with Luther College last Saturday night.

With the wrestling championship under their hats from the afternoon finals, the night looked bright for the Norskies. The pre-game cheering and back and forth comments indicated that the game would be an exciting one.

Facing our arch-rival sister school is always a highly competitive game, but this particular night it seemed to hit a feverish pitch as Luther fans poured in and Wartburg fans poured in.

What started out to be a lively, exciting game between two good teams, between two Christian colleges, turned out to be a bit on the rough side and the friendly rivalry turned to bitter competition.

Good sportsmanship fell to the rear and by the end of the game the fun was almost lost.

Yes, Wartburg won the game. Luther put up a good fight. Both schools cheered their teams on in violent fury. It's too bad a few individuals have to spoil good sportsmanship.

The odds are against you; jump in one puddle and you land in two others.

Some people are what they aren't, some people aren't what they are and some people aren't.

People here, people there — somebody, please find a place where they aren't.

The possibility of life on Mars is marginal. With atomic weapons in abundance on Earth, perhaps the possibility of future life here is also marginal.

And then there was the student teacher who gave up lesson plans for Lent.

Relationship To God Discussed

By Jan Horne

Semester exams are now about a month and one-half behind us and it is more than two months since New Year's Eve. About this time some of us may still vaguely remember our new year's resolutions.

Perhaps we looked to the new year for some real improvement on our work, or perhaps we decided to go to church at least once a week and maybe even make a serious attempt to try to understand our predicament, that is, our relationships with our fellow human beings and with God.

IN THIS respect, this is just a reminder of some of these resolutions we made, but which we have temporarily dismissed.

The time is always ripe for a re-evaluation of our status in our relationship with God. We should honestly ask ourselves some questions.

Have our lives been led according to our expectations in this Christian liberal arts school? Have our attempts to adapt to this situation been in fairness to ourselves and to God? Have our concepts of God become more meaningful?

These and other such personal questions we should address to ourselves periodically throughout our college career.

It is to be expected that very few, if any of us, would answer all these questions with a "yes." In regard to the first question, it isn't surprising to hear a freshman say that he thought it would be much easier to be a Christian among Christians at Wartburg than at home.

MANY HAVE THE conception that a Christian college is a pious place and that once a person is safely deposited in such a place, he will be shielded from the evils of this world.

However, it is not the purpose of a liberal arts college to shield people, but to open their vistas to our complex and intricate human nature, including both "good" and "evil," since the one is a necessary tool by which to define the other.

We soon learn that a Christian college, like Wartburg, is Christian only to the degree its members are Christian, and that the term itself is stretched to include people with a far greater number of different philosophies of Christianity than we thought possible.

AS WE LOOK AT the second question we may admit that we have been led to adapt, somehow, to this way of life. But if we are honest with ourselves we will probably conclude that it has not all been in fairness to God, and therefore not to ourselves.

We should all realize that it is the combined efforts of all to meet the daily challenges of life that make for Christian unity. In order to raise the level of Christian activities at Wartburg, we must all pitch in and do our share, remembering the passage, "Let him who wants to be the greatest of all, be the servant of all."

As far as the last question is concerned it seems that our greatest challenge lies here, because the more meaningful God is to us, the more meaningful will be our relationship with our fellow human beings, and the more able we will be to solve the problems as stated in the first two questions.

We are frequently obsessed with putting a value to everything, to see what things, or persons, are valuable to us. But we should be equally concerned with how we might be valuable to others as we offer our understanding, concern and friendship to them.

Coeds Given Opportunity To Enter Jaycee Pageant

Miss Jan Wegenast

Wartburg women will again have a chance to compete in the Miss Waverly contest sponsored by the Waverly Jaycees.

Miss Jan Wegenast, semester graduate of Wartburg, will complete her year as Miss Waverly when she crowns the new queen at the pageant set for May 11.

"It has been an honor and a privilege to hold the title of Miss Waverly for the past year. I am greatly indebted to the Waverly community and the Waverly Jaycees for all they have done to make this year a memorable one," commented Jan concerning her experience.

As Miss Waverly, Jan attended Jaycee meetings, judged a twist contest in Waverly, participated in Crazy Days in the community and the opening of the new Music Corner.

Perhaps the highlight of her activities was attending the Miss Iowa contest in Clear Lake in July. She received an expense-paid trip for herself and a chaperone to Clear Lake.

Queen Jan also participated in a JC-ette style show and will be in another one in March.

Miss Wegenast is presently teaching first grade at Lincoln School in Waverly, having graduated in January.

Activities at college during the first semester included varsity cheerleading, P.E. club, Student Education Association, Castle Singers and Women's Athletic Association.

Jan was also selected as Homecoming queen in October and was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Not only did Jan covet the trophy for Miss Waverly, but she also was awarded the titles and trophies for Miss Talent and Miss Congeniality, two other awards made in the contest.

Five of the ten contestants in last year's contest were Wartburg students. The previous year a former Wartburg coed, Miss Judy Nimtz, won the title. This will be the fourth year that the contest has been held in Waverly.

If any Wartburg coed is interested in the chance to become Miss Waverly of 1963 or possibly Miss Iowa of 1963 or if they know of someone who would, they are urged to contact senior Fred Dierks, campus coordinator for the Waverly Junior Chamber of Commerce.

AS PART OF HOBBY

Freshman Uncovers Wartburg Museum

By Marvin Ackerman

Mack Vowers, freshman from Kimball, Neb., has uncovered an interesting and valuable collection of old Indian artifacts and other articles by rediscovering the Wartburg College Museum.

The museum, which is unknown to most Wartburg students, is now being stored in the attic of Old Main. Some fifteen thousand pieces made up the original museum collection, which was moved here from Clinton with the college.

Some articles "unearthed" from the attic are now being displayed on campus. Those in the Fine Arts Building and in Homuth Memorial Library deal with Indians. The Luther Hall display shows New Guinea curios.

The displays will be changed every two or three weeks.

Mack is augmenting the college's museum pieces with those from his own collection.

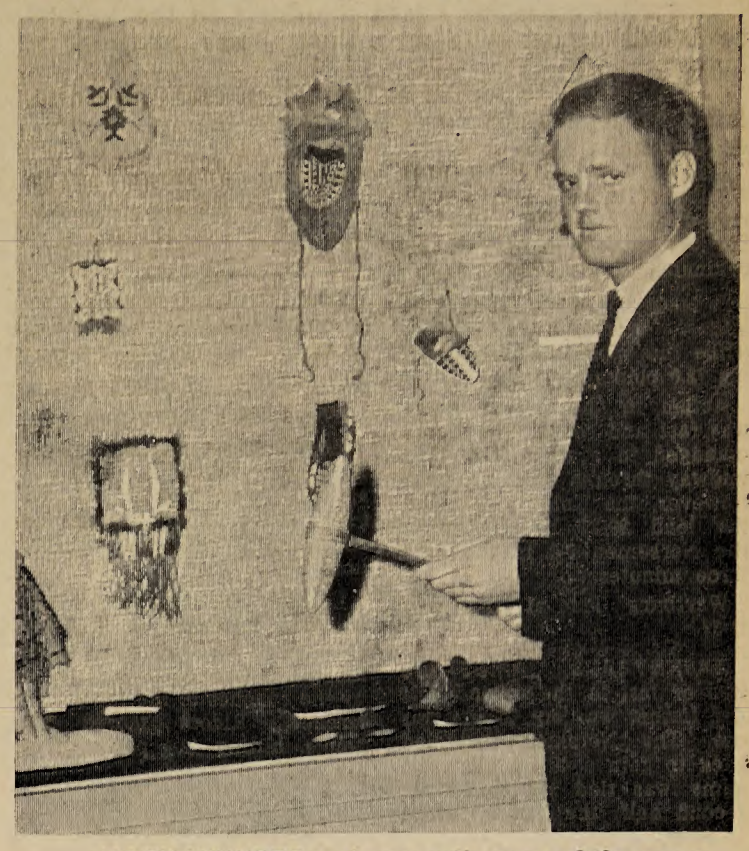
"I have one of the most valuable collections in my area. It is worth between four and five thousand dollars, plus all my time and labor," said Vowers.

Contributing to the value of the collection are rare articles from both New Guinea and New Zealand. From New Zealand he has an axe head and from New Guinea there are human bone-tipped arrows.

These articles were brought out of these countries by missionaries, since it is against the law for others to take them out.

Not all the pieces in his collection were given to him, though. He has found many of them himself through travel and much digging. There are articles from the United States, Canada, Alaska, Australia and Europe.

"I have dug down as far as 20 feet and found articles more than ten thousand years old," he said.



MACK VOWERS is shown with some of the many objects he uses in various old relic displays throughout the campus.

In his collection are many arrowheads. According to Mack, Iowans can walk across a field in some areas and pick up a handful of them; but in Nebraska, it takes about nine hours to find one of them.

"Looking this long for one Nebraskan piece is worth it though," he added. "They are of much finer quality than those from Iowa."

One of the most different pieces is the skeleton of an Iowa Indian which was unearthed from a large mound near Dubuque overlooking the Mississippi River.

"It is a very large man, probably over 800 years old. It took eight hours to get him out," Mack said.

Other articles include jade Alaskan arrow points which date back some three thousand years. They are very similar to those points which he has from Europe.

Also included are axe heads from both Ohio and Sweden and some almost perfect old Indian pottery. He also has arrowheads from the North Dakota cliff dwellers and things from New Mexico dating back to the time of the Folsom Man.

"The museum is in pretty bad shape right now," he added, "but someday I hope to get everything out in the open."

Band Festival Next Sat.

Third annual High School Band Festival will be held on campus next Saturday.

Fifteen band clinicians from different colleges and high schools in Iowa and Wisconsin will be on hand to direct and participate in the various activities of the day.

HIGH SCHOOL students from twelve surrounding high schools will be guests of the Music Department and will also participate, according to Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Music Department.

The morning's agenda will feature solos and ensembles as well as six full bands. A nominal charge of $1 will admit those who wish to hear these groups.

"Wartburg Hour," an hour-long concert by the Wartburg College Band and Choir, will start the afternoon activities at 1 p.m.

REMAINDER OF THE afternoon will consist of individual sessions, two hours in length, each dealing with one specific instrument and led by specialists in those fields. $1.50 is the charge for attendance at these "Master Classes."

Robert E. Lee of the Music Department strongly recommends that all of these sessions be attended by the general public and especially by music students.

This is a rare opportunity to take advantage of the high-quality instruction of proficient music educators and to hear some fine performances by top-quality students.

Number Theory Seminar Theme

"Number Theory" is the topic for this year's math seminar that has begun this semester, according to Dean of Faculty John Chellevold.

Introduced by Luther Claborn, Mathematics Department, the remaining sessions will be taught by juniors August Waltmann and Roger Palmer and seniors Eric Meisgeier and Gordon Nipp.

This is the first time the sessions are open to selected freshman and sophomore math students because the "nature of the topic does not presuppose previous mathematical knowledge," Chellevold said.

Taking turns by pairs, the students give a presentation every week to members of the Mathematics Department and to students majoring in math.

Participation Emphasized In Project

God helps those who help themselves — and in this case it is hoped by the Student Body Project Committee that those helping themselves will be all the members of the Wartburg student body.

Solicitations for this year's SBP will be starting on Monday. Anyone willing to help with solicitations is asked to contact the people in charge of their respective dorms.

CENTENNIAL chairmen are Bonnie Jacobia and Linda Huntley and Clinton chairmen are Al Goldammer and Dennis Heane.

Others include Grossmann, Larry Peterson and Sam Ford; Hebron, Sue Larson and Charlene Tutton; North Hall, David Minor and Bob Jacobs; Vollmer Hall, Mary Ross and Diane Moericke; and Wartburg Hall, Iris Koehler and Vicky Rakow.

Off-campus representatives will be announced soon.

Student participation is very important in the total college scene. It is imperative that the students support the project as the rest of the community has done, according to George Whinna, project chairman.

FURNITURE FOR the new union is not being furnished with school money. The committee has announced that they would like each person to contribute three dollars.

This amount does not have to be paid now, but it is hoped that each person will pledge this amount if at all possible.

There will be some type of memorial plaque placed in the union, in honor of the housing unit with the highest donation.

THE SOLICITATIONS committee is hopeful that students will think seriously about this and try to contribute the needed funds.

On Monday evening the Senate will be given a full report of the project.

Chairmen of the various phases of the SBP are Verle Reinicke — Solicitations; Nancy Petersen — Publicity; and co-chairmen of the carnival—Terry Havel and Bob Braun.

Reineke — Solicitations; Nancy Peterson—Publicity; and co-chairman of the carnival—Terry Havel and Bob Brown.

Music Recitals Set Tues.

Four juniors will present their music recitals Tuesday in the Chapel - auditorium at 7:15 p.m., according to Dr. Edwin Liemohn, Music Department head.

Students are Carol Belau, soprano; David Dix, piano; Ruth Ann Struckmann, soprano; and Ron Burrichter, tenor.

For her first number Miss Belau has chosen "Il mio bel foco" by Marcello.

OTHER NUMBERS include "Madchen lied," Brahms; "Sehnsucht," Brahms; "Non so piu cosa son," Mozart; "When I Bring You Colour'd Toys," Carpenter; and "Lullaby," Scott. She will be accompanied by sophomore Kay Lindaman.

"Liebesstraume, III," Liszt, will be the first number done by Dix. "Grande Valse brillante, Op. 18," and "Nocturne in G Minor, Op. 37, No. 1," both by Chopin and "Passacaglia," Piston, will complete his performance.

Miss Struckmann's first number will be "My Heart Ever Faithful" by Bach.

OTHER NUMBERS include "Lachen und Weinen," Schubert; "Nacht und Traume," Schubert; "Zueignung," Strauss; and "Music I Heard with You," Hageman. Sophomore Judy Lanaghan will be her accompanist.

Burrichter has chosen nine songs from "Die Schone Mullerin" by Schubert. He will be accompanied by Phyllis Remmers, senior.

A recital previously scheduled by Dr. Warren Schmidt for March will be given later, according to Liemohn.

Changes Passed

Both constitutional revisions were approved by the student body in a special election last week.

The revision that provided for the election of a treasurer passed by a 259-17 margin.

The other revision, which changes the residence requirement for running for student body office one semester instead of three, passed by a narrower margin, 205-71.

A two-thirds majority was required and had ten votes changed on the latter proposal, it would not have passed, according to Dick Buchsteiner, student body president.

Knights Close Season With Conquest

By Bob Nelson

Wartburg Knights closed the doors on the 1962-63 basketball season with a thrilling 82-75 conquest of Luther.

This win, the second of the season over the Norse, left the Knights tied for sixth place in the final conference standings.

AGAINST ALL competition Wartburg finished with a 12-13 record, just one game short of the .500 mark aimed for at the beginning of the season.

In these 25 games the Knight offense averaged 73.4 points while the opponents were scoring 72.0 points per game.

Action in the Luther game was fast and rough. The Norse managed to grab a 21-12 lead midway through the first half. However, the Knights regained the lead 29-27 by outscoring the Norsemen 9-0 in the next three minutes.

Wartburg led at the half 41-37.

BASKETBALL GAMES are won or lost in the second half and Luther was out to win this one. The Norskies struggled back to gain a 47 all tie. The game was tied six times the second half, the last tie score at 62-62.

However, the Knights were not to be denied as they broke away on a field goal by sophomore Harold Shudlick and a pair by junior Al Buenning.

Luther then fought back within two points, 70-68, but goals by freshman Lowell Syverson and junior Gary Medlang put the game out of reach for the Norse.

THE WIN WAS a team effort with all men playing an excellent game. The front line of Buenning, Syverson and Shudlick scored 20, 22 and 17 points respectively.

Guards Dave Lange, sophomore, and Medlang both played a good game against Luther's press. Lange dropped in 13 points, 4 in the last 2 minutes to clinch the game, and Medlang scored 6.

Two school records were established the past season. As a team, the Knights pulled down 1047 stray shots, also a school record.

Buenning set a single game high for rebounds with 26 against Loras. Dick Ridout tied the school mark when he poured in 16 field goals against Loras.

Leading Wartburg scorer Ridout was honored for his fine play when he was selected to the all-conference second team by the coaches in the Iowa Conference. Ridout scored 350 points, hitting 42.4 per cent of his shots.

Oppiemen Begin Work

With the season opener four weeks off, Coach Earnest Oppermann's baseball team candidates began limbering up last Monday in preparation to defend their conference championships of the past two seasons.

On hand are 38 men with nine returning lettermen in their midst. Of these, juniors Gary Medlang, pitcher, and Al Exner, catcher, both lettered in the '61 season but did not see action last season. They were called up during the Berlin crisis.

The strongest positions appear to be in the outfield where such veterans as juniors Eldon Ott, Ray Bye, Bob Matthias and sophomore Arlyn Ristau will roam.

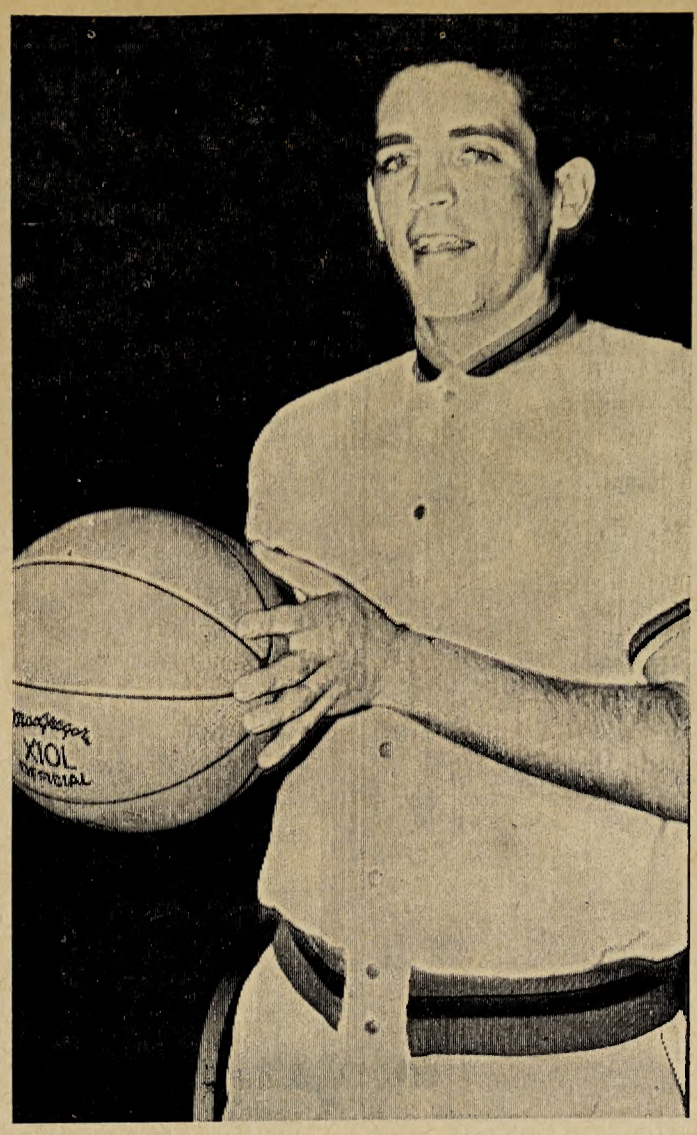
At catcher, the Knights have two veterans in senior Frank Merrill and Exner.

There are two junior college transfer students among the tryouts. Oddly enough, both of these men, juniors Dick Ridout and Larry Dieterichs, are second basemen.

Coach Oppermann looks to his pitching staff to be the determining factor in his team's drive for their third straight championship. Junior Dave Langrock is back but Jim Borcherding has graduated.

Together these two southpaws combined last year to give Wartburg's pitching staff the lowest earned run average in the nation.

Those pitchers being counted on this season for the Knights include juniors Dave Langrock and Allen Carley, sophomore Kurt Marshek and Medlang.



Ridout Receives Honor

Dick Ridout, junior from Ackley, has recently been named W-Club Athlete of the Month. Ridout, who transferred here the past fall from Ellsworth Junior College, was a first-string starter for the Knights averaging 12.1 points per conference game. He was named to the Iowa Conference second team. Dick was also crowned Snow King at Wartburg's Snow Weekend festivities last week.

W-Club To Run 14 Hrs. To Raise Charity Funds

By Doug Goke

Is it possible to run 120 miles in 14 hours? Maybe not for one man, but 60 "W" Club members here at Wartburg are going to try to do it March 16.

Bill Riggle, senior, is the committee chairman for this event, and according to him, the lettermen are doing this in hopes of raising money for the March of Dimes.

The plan is to run from Waverly to Des Moines in 14 or 15 hours, averaging 8½ miles per hour. By starting out at 3 a.m., the members expect to reach Governor Hughes' home in Des Moines around 5 p.m. to collect the governor's donation.

As the runners proceed from town to town, other members riding in cars will collect donations from individuals in the various towns which they pass through.

Dribbling a basketball the entire route had been the first thought, but since that was ruled out, the runners will now carry a torch — the symbol of the March of Dimes.

All of the arrangements have not been worked out, but it is hoped that the runners will have reached Marshalltown by noon on that Saturday.

According to Riggle, three groups of twenty men will be divided up and the men will run distances between one-fourth of a mile to two or three miles at a time, depending upon the running ability of the men.

□ □ □ □

In the area of basketball, the all-Iowa Conference basketball team was chosen this past week with League champion Parsons placing two men on the first team.

Roger Sherrard, the only senior, and junior Dennis Edwards were the two men from Parsons chosen by the coaches in the Iowa Conference.

Other members selected were Larry Dick and Dick Point, both juniors from Buena Vista, Dennis Edwards, junior from Central, and Larry Albers, Upper Iowa sophomore. Larry Dick, this year's conference scoring leader, and Sherrard were the only repeats from last year.

Dick Ridout, junior from Wartburg, was the only man from Wartburg that was selected to receive a place on the second team. Others chosen, along with Ridout, were Mick Taliaferro (Parsons), Tom Hensly (Simpson), Dave Grove (Luther), Ted Burson (William Penn) and Don Dutton (U.I.U.).

□ □ □ □

One last note, and that on baseball. Arch-rival Parsons has scheduled 74 games this spring. At that rate, it will be playing more games per week than the major league teams.

AS REFRESHING CHANGE

Play Unites Drama, Humor

By Mary Ross

"Night Must Fall" by Emlyn Williams brings to the Wartburg stage a refreshing change from the previous plays of the season. This mystery combines high drama and simple comedy to provide a pleasant evening for the audience.

Many of the usual opening night troubles were present, such as missed cues, backstage noise and failure of the actors to project themselves fully into their parts at the beginning of the play.

BUT MUCH OF this was the result of a sparce and scattered audience, an audience which failed to give the support needed by the actors.

Yet many strong points can quickly be seen in the production. An effective opening was created through the use of music and lighting plus the pre-play setting by the Lord Chief Justice (John Prigge). These combined to provide the desirable mood for the ensuing production.

Aided by these special effects and excellent costuming, the generally well-chosen cast gave an admirable performance. Inspector Belsize (Dan Moeller) carried through his part well as an officer of Scotland Yard.

ALBIN SANDAU as Mr. Laurie should be commended for his fine control of voice and natural gestures. But the difficult accents used by the nurse (Judy Seffer) and the maid, Dora (Barb Erickson), tended to be sometimes exaggerated and often distracting.

However, a direct contrast can be seen in the convincing and natural Cockney accent of the cook, Mrs. Terrence (Nancy Keel).

Through her carriage, gestures, facial expressions and general attitude, Mrs. Terrence provided very enjoyable entertainment as well as serving her purpose as the master of comic relief.

JUNIORS BONNIE Loufek and Jim Steinbrecher are seen in Wartburg Players "Night Must Fall" which will see its last production this evening in the Chapel-auditorium at 8 p.m.

Nancy Baker did equally well as Olivia, the companion of the disagreeable Mrs. Bramson. Through her shrewd reckoning and unflinching character, Olivia added much depth to the play.

BONNIE LOUFEK as Mrs. Bramson was very convincing as a crochety old would-be invalid. Her constant concern for the states of her health, chocolate box and money box made her easy prey of the attentions of her eventual murderer.

This excellent portrayal of a psychopathic killer was played by Jim Steinbrecher. As Danny, Jim had complete control of the changing moods of the play which varied from happy-go-lucky comedy to tense, dramatic excitement.

In the estimation of the writer, the four actors portraying Mrs. Terrence, Olivia, Mrs. Bramson and Danny achieved to some unmistakable degree that which may be called the ideal.

THEY CEASED to be students at Wartburg College or even actors on a stage; they became actual personalities involved in a tense experience in living.

John Gill deserves much credit for another fine production.

Ton Il Han Here Soon

Ton Il Han, Korean pianist, will be the featured performer for Wartburg's final Artist Series, March 18.

Born in North Korea, Dec. 4, 1941, Ton moved to South Korea with his family after they lost their piano and possessions to the Russian Communists.

GEN. SAMUEL E. Anderson, then Commander of the U. S. Fifth Air Force in the Far East, recognized Ton's talent and arranged a concert tour of Air Force bases in Korea and Japan.

Contributions from officers and airmen on this tour enabled "Tony," as Ton is known in the United States, to begin his musical training.

In June, 1954, Ton came to this country with Gen. Anderson, his sponsor, and for the past eight years has been a pupil of Madame Rosina Lhevinne at the Juilliard School of Music.

SINCE 1954, TON has played a number of major performances throughout the United States and Canada. He has appeared as a soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, the Montreal Symphony Orchestra and the Juilliard Orchestra.

Of his talent the New York Times has commented that "he had something more than the technical command almost inevitable in newcomers today. He has a poetic gift."

He has also made television appearances with Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," the Dave Garroway "Today Show" and the Voice of Firestone.

Winners Named

Winning the various categories for snow sculpture last weekend were Alpha House, sophomore class and Choir.

Alpha House won the "best technique" category, sophomore class the "most original" category and Wartburg Choir the "clearest motif" category.

Group Initiates New Members

Tri Beta, an honorary biology fraternity, initiated eighteen new members Friday evening.

Julie M. Hasse was the only senior to be initiated.

Juniors initiated were Lorraine Johnson, Majilinda Zerrudo, Kenneth Friday, Noel Florendo, Duane Schlitter, Larry Dunham, Lana Stavnheim, Virgil Arns, Kenneth Bentz and William Fulcher.

Sophomores initiated were Pamela Sandrock, Helen Stier, James Gronewold, Kenneth Wessel, Arlo Raim, Thomas Neal and Orval Huebner.

Speaking for the banquet was Dr. Donald B. McDonald of the Department of Engineering at the State University of Iowa. His topic was "Limnological Studies in the Glen Canyon Area of the Colorado River."

$5,000 Received To Aid Students

A five thousand dollar gift has been received by the college to be used to aid needy pre-theological students.

The gift was presented by the people of St. John's American Lutheran Church of Pomeroy It is from the estate of Mrs. Anna Riebock of Pomeroy.

The money is to be administered by the Student Aid and Scholarship Committee and the president of the college. This is in line with the request of the donors.

The primary requirement for receipt of a scholarship or grant from the fund for the pre-the is need. Ability and scholarship will be taken into consideration also. The money not used will be in a trust fund where it can accumulate interest.

TALC Conf. Information Available From Wilken

More definite information concerning the TALC College Conference is now available, according to coordinator Paul Wilken, junior.

The conference will be held March 29-31 at Dana College in Blair, Neb.

AT THIS TIME, approximately thirty students have expressed a desire to attend the conference. Those who will be going will leave on the 29th about 10 a.m. and will be returning sometime the afternoon of the 31st.

Cost for the conference is eight dollars and travel expense will be about five dollars for each individual. Travel plans are indefinite as yet, according to Wilken.

Several campus organizations have been contacted and have agreed to contribute money to a fund for those who are going, so each person will be receiving some reimbursement.

THREE SPEAKERS will be speaking to the main topic "Called to be Human in a Dehumanizing World." Friday evening Dr. John Bachman, professor of practical theology and director of the audio-visual program at Union Theological Seminary in New York, will apply drama to the theme.

Saturday, Jackie Robinson, former Brooklyn Dodgers star, will speak in the area of athletics and William Stringfellow, prominent New York lawyer, in the area of business.

Stringfellow was recognized by Karl Barth, the world famous theologian, in a recent issue of the "Christian Century" as the man who caught his attention more than any other person during his trip to the United States last year.

Also included on the program are workshop discussion groups, question and answer sessions with the main speaker and meetings of special interest groups.

ON FRIDAY EVENING the college swimming pool will be open for those attending the conference.

Those planning to go to the conference have been meeting the last four Sunday mornings to discuss the general theme on the basis of the manual "Called to be Human" put out by the Youth Department. Tomorrow the discussion will center around excerpts from "The Verdict of the Scoreboard" by Ade Christenson, a former coach at St. Olaf.

Next Sunday the area of business will be discussed through an address presented at the Fourth National Study Conference on the Church and Economic Life, entitled "Concern of Churches for Economic Life."

Purpose of these discussions is to raise questions and to provide a background for discussions at Dana.

Senate Discusses Numerous Items

Senators discussed a conglomeration of items Monday night, but over an hour of discussion resulted in no major decisions.

Biggest headache was selection of delegates for the TALC conference to be held at Dana College, Blair, Neb., March 29-31. Wartburg can have three official delegates, but senators could not not decide how they should be selected.

The matter was referred to the Executive Committee, and final action on selection of delegates and other matters in regard to the conference will be taken care of next Monday.

Other items that senators discussed included the intramural program and an evaluation of Snow Weekend. Reports on the Student Body Project drive, which gets under way Monday, and the Pops Concert will be presented at the next meeting.
